Service and Maintenance

AT UNEC it is understood that proper maintenance and regular services are the key to increase the operational life and reduce the running cost of your equipment. A good maintenance regime would decrease unexpected breakdowns. Moreover, in the interest of both safety and efficiency, equipment should be inspected daily before being used.

Our professional personnel will help customers to define a maintenance plan, listing the regular checks and maintenance recommendations for each machine. Through preventative maintenance interventions we can anticipate the substitution of mechanical components before the actual breakdown. However in case of breakdown, our trained technicians can give rapid on site assistance, with the proper tools, parts and manuals. Repairs can be carried out on site or at our workshop as needed.

Service Contracts

Concentrate on your core business, and let us take care of your equipment! Indeed at UNEC we can offer an attractive range of tailor made service contracts.

Inspection Contract

This type of contract involves the regular inspection of the equipment by our technician at agreed intervals. With each inspection, a report is submitted to the customer detailing any maintenance or repair work needed.

Periodic Maintenance Contract

By this contract, in addition to the work covered by the inspection contract, UNEC undertakes the maintenance work recommended in the service manual (excluding the daily check). This includes lubricant changes and replacement of filters as required. As with the inspection contract, the condition of the equipment and any recommended repairs will be reported to the customer.

Full Service Contract

A Full Service Contract covers all maintenance and repair works for the contract period, excluding the operator's daily check. This covers parts and labour for repairs due to wear and tear component failure, but excludes damage to accidents or abuse. Normally, the full service contracts are an excellent way to limit costs only to a fixed monthly sum.

Others

At UNEC we also hold an extensive range of hydraulic pipes and fittings, and other industrial supplies such as: lubricants, seal kits, filters, cables etc.

We also offer flexible service agreements according to the individual needs of our clients.
